Director of Marketing for Pacific City

Pacific City – Host to the World Games

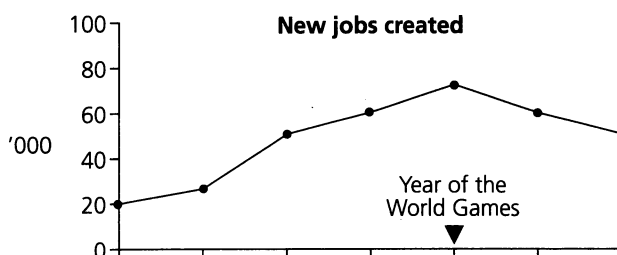

Pacific City is the third largest city in your country. A few years ago Pacific City was host to a major international sports competition, the World Games. The event was a great success.

It is now several years after the World Games and you are the Director of Marketing for Pacific City. You have the job of selling your city as a good place to do business. You will receive a telephone call from a journalist. Study the information below before the call.

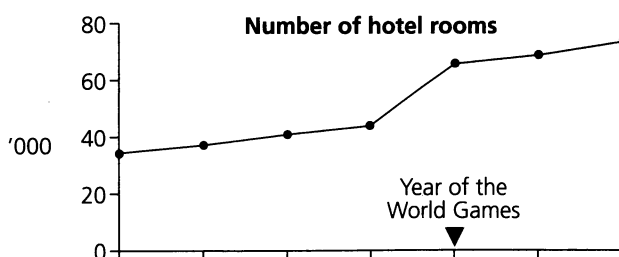

Local economy

- The construction of sports arenas and hotels for the World Games helped to create jobs.

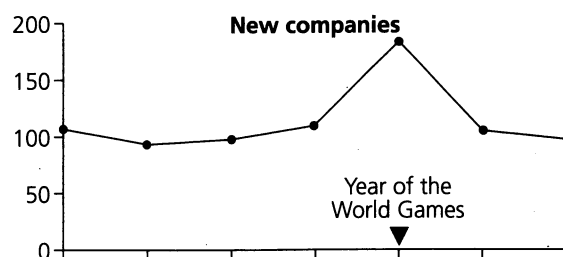

Hotels

- New hotels are still being built because of the growing number of conferences and trade shows.
- The occupancy rate of hotels is currently 72%.

Attractions for new companies

- Location: Pacific City is only 30 minutes' flying time from 70% of the country's population.
- Excellent road and rail links to every part of the country.
- Labour costs are low.

Plans for the future

Pacific City wants to become a centre for all sport-related business, for example:

- Sports goods manufacturers
- Clothing and footwear companies
- Sports marketing and advertising companies
- National and international sports events
