

Topics for practice reports

Worksheet

Choose one of these topics to practise writing a business report. If possible, adapt the topic you choose to make it similar to the reports you write in your own real-life job.

Mini-reports

- 1 Magazine article. Write a report summarizing an article that you have read.
- 2 Meeting/Negotiation. Write a report summarizing a recent meeting or negotiation (in real life or on this course).
- 3 Tourism Opportunities. Write a report to your colleagues on why they should spend their next holiday in your country/city, and recommendations for places to visit.
- 4 Weekend trip. Write a report to your colleagues with recommendations for where you should go next weekend for a social/cultural visit.
- 5 Course evaluation. Write a report that evaluates this course up to now.

Work-related

- 6 Your career. A Personnel Officer has just interviewed you for a job. Write her report about you, including your career, your abilities and achievements.
- 7 Annual report. Write the introduction to your company's Annual Report.
- 8 Market report. Write a report analyzing recent changes in your market.
- 9 Progress report: department. Write a report describing the work of your department/section over the last quarter.
- 10 Progress report: project. Write a report describing the progress of one particular project you are currently involved with.
- 11 Product launch. Write a briefing document to give to journalists about a new product or service that your company is going to launch.
- 12 Product description. Write a report giving a detailed description of one of your products (size, shape, colour, materials, technical specifications, features etc.).
- 13 Improvements. Write a report to your colleagues at work suggesting how to make improvements in one or more of the following: recruitment methods, distribution, productivity, quality, advertising, motivation, training, brand image, time management.
- 14 Real-life report. Write parts of a real-life report that you have to write in the near future.

Current affairs

- 15 'Hot' topic from your country. Write a report to your colleagues on the course that describes an economic/political/social/environmental topic that has been talked about recently in your country.
- 16 Traffic. Write a report to the Transport Minister of your country suggesting radical new measures for controlling traffic in the capital city.

