

Report: the impact of information technologyWorksheet

Information Technology (IT) includes computers, software and telecommunications. Choose one of the topics below and write a short report.

- 1 Your report will be called The impact of IT on my business. The points below will help you to start thinking about the topic, but only choose a few areas that are relevant to you and your business.
 - New software developments
 - New hardware developments
 - Developments in peripherals (printers, scanners, monitors etc.)
 - Developments in mobile communications
 - Doing business on the Internet (e-commerce)
 - New markets
 - Responding to our competitors
 - Adapting to new working styles
 - Our company's Intranet
 - Video-conferencing
 - Systems security
 - The cost of IT
 - IT and the law
 - My country's IT industry
 - Future innovations
- 2 Your report will be called The impact of IT on society. The questions below will help you to start thinking about the topic, but only choose a few areas that are interesting to you. In your report refer to real examples from your own experience and your own country.
 - How will IT affect the prices of products? competition between companies?
 - How will IT affect unemployment? the creation of new jobs?
 - How will IT affect places and patterns of work?
 - How will IT affect the distribution of wealth? Will it cause other kinds of divisions in society?
 - How will IT affect global culture?
 - How will IT affect entertainment and leisure time?
 - How will IT affect human relationships and communication between people?
 - Does IT have any implications for personal freedom?

