

5.1a

An introduction to business correspondence Worksheet

- A Study this typical business letter and the notes below.

EXECUTIVE TRAINING VIDEOS

•———— 1048 Wiltshire Avenue ———•

San Diego

California 92107

Your Ref: BE/HT

Our Ref: MS/IP

12 June 1999

Ms. E J Harding
Johnson Engineering
Offley Industrial Park
Birmingham B9 6HL

Dear Ms. Harding

TRAINING VIDEOS

- 1 Thank you for your letter of 3 June enquiring about our range of training videos.
- 2 Unfortunately the video you require is temporarily out of stock, but we are expecting some more in the near future. I will contact you again as soon as they arrive.
- 3 You may be interested in other items from our product range, and I am enclosing our latest brochure and price list.
- 4 Thank you for your interest in our training videos and please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any further questions.
- 5 I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours sincerely

Robert Kapferer

Robert Kapferer
Sales Manager

Enc. Current brochure and price list.

Notes (numbers below refer to numbers above)

- 1 The first paragraph of a business letter refers to previous correspondence or gives an introduction to the subject.
- 2 The body of the letter gives all the information and details, starting with the most important. The style is simple, direct and positive. There is much use of standard expressions.
- 3 The body of the letter often finishes with a reference to action: what you are doing, or what you want the reader to do.
- 4 The paragraph before the closing line is friendly and leaves a good impression in the reader's mind.
- 5 The closing line has a standard expression.