C You are all at a Trade Fair.

Company representatives. You have your own stand. Welcome your visitors and talk about your company and products. If possible, represent your real company and sell your real products. If not, sell something in the room or an object that you have with you.

Visitors to the Fair. Circulate around the stands, asking for information and finding out more about the activities of each company. If another visitor wants to come to the stand where you are talking, finish the conversation quickly but naturally and go to another stand.
